ZERO HUNGER
End hunger, achieve food security and improved nutrition, and promote sustainable agriculture

Promoting sustainable agriculture

The international conference "Partnership as a tool for exporting local products from rural areas of Ukraine" was held on 28 April 2025 at Igor Sikorsky Kyiv Polytechnic Institute together with Tallinn University and the Estonian Centre for International Development.

Purpose of the event: raising awareness of partnerships as a tool for exporting local products from rural areas of Ukraine under martial law and postwar recovery; establishing cooperation between Ukrainian and Estonian specialists; forming a professional networking community on rural development to discuss and address current challenges.

Food safety policy and access to food at Kyiv Polytechnic

Igor Sikorsky Kyiv Polytechnic Institute has introduced a comprehensive set of measures to ensure food safety for students, staff and cadets.

The University strives to provide affordable and sustainable nutrition. Cafeterias serve a wide selection of dishes, including vegetarian and vegan options, prepared from seasonal products without excessive use of processed ingredients.
